

Unit-linked Market Impact

14 December 2018

Over the last year we have seen some volatile markets which have impacted the daily values of the investments held by the unit-linked funds. Uncertainties over Brexit and other political events can cause markets to behave in a more volatile manner.

Unit-linked funds should be used for long term investments. Over the short term funds may fall, especially equity funds which are directly impacted by market volatility.

Policyholders taking their savings may see lower values than on statements previously received. You should consider taking advice before making any investment decisions.

We provide monthly factsheets which show how our funds are performing against similar funds.
